The power is in the combination

FLOWSPARKS provides an interactive, easy to manage software to create attractive e-Learning in-house. Especially for blue-collar workers, e-Learning can be the perfect way to stay up to date with safety guidelines, COVID-19 measures, instruction forms or evaluations. Getting the right message, or in this case e-Learning, to the right worker at the right time is still a common barrier. That's where MEET ROGER comes in: a smart platform on which companies can manage their entire internal communications. From a single dashboard, messages are automatically pushed through various channels such as work or private email, SMS, WhatsApp, a web application and/or smartphone app. The channel of choice can be determined by the employees themselves. Thanks to the very extensive segmentation possibilities, companies can target very specific groups of employees, independent of time and work location.
